TESTIMONIALS

Mel King

This letter is for Jamarhl Crawford and his campaign for City Council. I want to offer my appreciation for your campaign. I believe that it will bring much awareness to the district and city about the issues that need addressing.

I'm very impressed with the fact that you have moved to do something that I think is the most crucial aspect of a democracy in developing tools for information that are straightforward and comes out of the community itself.

The biggest issues you have taken on are the dis and mis information that we are fed. You have done such an incredible job in moving us in that direction with limited resources. I can see real benefits in the kind of role that your campaign can play with the opportunity to bring to the debate about the needs of the community and solutions that will give people a chance to take the steps to improve the quality of theirs and the communities well being. Your presence in the campaign I believe is a win for the city.

Dianne Wilkerson

I used to say that my job was more appropriately called a professional agitator rather than a politician and we needed more people who see the job this way. Jamarhl Crawford is one of those people. Jamarhl is the personification of what is needed in an elected official. He is articulate, conscientious, committed and most importantly, he loves his people and is not afraid to do what is necessary for the betterment of this community. Community will always come first for him.

Minister Don Muhammad

Jamarhl has my support. This young man I have known him for a while and he's very bright. This Brother has his thoughts and his goals and his desires together. Jamarhl is the man to handle this business.

Senator Bill Owens

Jamarhl Crawford serves his community in a different way than most people that I know. He serves every day of his life as unbought, unbossed and unafraid. In his life, people in the community come first. People come before any party or politics. Jamarhl believes what my father expressed to me many years ago that there are two kinds of people: Those that live within the parameters that others draw for them and the others who draw the parameters. Jamarhl draws the parameters. I believe in him and I trust him. In his quest for City Council of District 7, He is one of a kind and I believe he will have every success.

Mrs. Doris Bunte

I, Doris Bunte, endorse the candidacy of Mr. Jamarhl Crawford for District 7 Boston City Council.

I don't often endorse Candidates for office, in districts where I am not a voter. However, I am pleased to make an exception by endorsing Jamarhl Crawford.

Jamarhl, is a sincere, honest and proven leader in the community. On rare occasions a candidate will present him or her self that we can trust to make sure our voices are heard. On even fewer occasions, we have the opportunity to support a candidate who already works in and for his community on a regular basis. The voters of City Council District 7 will have the opportunity to elect such a person on November 5th.

Jamarhl Crawford is running for the Boston City Council, District 7 seat, on a Sticker Campaign. TAKE THE EXTRA STEP, APPLY THE STICKER, AND ELECT THE BEST CANDIDATE.

The candidacy of Jamarhl Crawford for Boston City Council represents a grassroots political movement to bring power to the people. While he is a young man, the brother is not a "Johnny Come lately." He has been an advocate for social and economic justice and human rights for decades. He is an example to the younger generation through his journalism, music, and entrepreneurialism. We believe its time to bring independent leaders like Jamarhl Crawford, who have a track record of service and leadership, in office to bring about the change and government we need.

Violence Rises in Boston Off the National Stage

*Excerpt from The New York Times
September 6, 2013
By Jess Bidgood*

"The tally — which rose to 124 with a shooting in Mattapan on Thursday — is showcased daily in an image designed to look like a marathon runner's number on Blackstonian.com, a Web site aimed at black Bostonians. The image, which has spread on Facebook, Twitter and other social media, was created by Jamarhl Crawford, a writer and graphic artist who is running a write-in campaign for Mr. Jackson's council seat and who convened a rally at City Hall last month to mark 100 shootings since the marathon.

3/2012 - Feed The People Weekend, through this effort Jamarhl organized a team to feed hot meals breakfast, lunch & dinner to over 160 people in one day.

1990 - A 19 yr. old Jamarhl chosen as one of 2 youth representatives for Nelson Mandela's Historic visit to Boston at Madison Park High School in Roxbury.

After the event he led more than 40 people to Mayor Thomas M. Menino's office to request a meeting with his staff about gun violence; no meeting has been scheduled, although the mayor has since attended other events aimed at raising awareness about gun violence.

"It is almost indicative of that classic tale, the 'Tale of Two Cities,' because I don't believe there's one Boston," Mr. Crawford told the crowd, referring to the "One Boston" slogan that emerged after the bombings. "There's at least two."

Even Senator Elizabeth Warren alluded to the violence since the marathon in a recent e-mail to supporters urging stronger gun control laws. "If 100 people went to Massachusetts General Hospital with a mysterious virus in four months, we would treat it as an epidemic," read the message. "There would be headlines, alarms and calls for action."

As of Aug. 26, there were 185 shootings in Boston this year, compared with 164 during the same period last year. That is well below the more than 400 shootings a year that took place in the early 1990s, but it is likely to overtake the fewer than 200 shootings a year recorded during most of the late '90s.

Many activists have called for stronger gun laws and better tracking of guns, as well as efforts to create better relationships between officers and the neighborhoods they patrol, citing a campaign by the Massachusetts Association of Minority Law Enforcement Officers to increase the number of high-ranking black officers in the Police Department."
